

About Economic Development Quarterly (EDQ)

- EDQ is a peer-reviewed journal dedicated to publishing and bringing to the attention of policy makers, decision makers, and researchers the latest quality research findings in economic development.
- EDQ's mission is to promote research supporting the formulation of evidence-based economic development policies, programs, and practices in the United States.
- EDQ's mission closely aligns with Upjohn's mission, vision, and core values of providing unbiased quality research in the areas of employment policy, labor market analysis, and economic and workforce development.

Our Purpose Today

The Journal of American Economic Revitalization

- To identify current important issues for research in economic and workforce development

Contents

Research and Positions

The Impact of the 2008-2009 Recession on the U.S. Economy
 Joseph P. Kalt, University of California, Berkeley

Small Business and Entrepreneurship
 Economic Development and Entrepreneurship: A Review of the Literature
 by Bruce A. McMillan, Thomas J. Sowell, and George S. Johnson

Articulation of Collaborative Work in Local Systems: Perceptions of Non-Profit Economic Development Leaders
 David B. Clark, Christopher R. Parsons, and Peter S. Wenzel

Collaborative Economic Development: The Role of Civil Society
 Robert F. Campbell, David M. Lublin, and Michael R. Allen

Improving Local and Regional Economic Development: Lessons from the Past and the Future and Growth in Agriculture and Food Markets
 William E. Shafer and David R. Johnson

The Diffusion of State Policy Innovation: A Meta-Methodological Study
 Scott L. Lyman

Book Reviews

A New Place to Work: Workers and Unions: Revitalization in the Postwar Period
 by Robert S. Lyman

Most Pressing Issues

The Journal of American Economic Revitalization

- What do you see as the issues most impacting the fields of economic and workforce development today and in the future?

Contents

Research and Features

The Impact of the COVID-19 Pandemic on the U.S. Labor Market
 by David Autor, David Dorn, and Gordon H. Hanson

Automation of Collaborative Work in Low-Cost Economies: Perceptions of Non-Local Economic Development Leaders
 by David A. Foray, Christopher P. Harland, and Thom S. Waring

Collaborative Economic Development in the Rust Belt of Ohio
 by David T. Campbell, David M. Lubeck, and Michael R. Wolf

Training Successful Corporate Executives: Methods, Demographics, Characteristics, and Growth in Agricultural and Food Markets
 by David R. Brown and David R. Johnson

The Diffusion of Best-Practices Innovation: A Meta-Methodological Study
 by David R. Brown

Book Reviews

A New Place to Work: Workers and Unions in Transition in the Postwar Midwest
 by David R. Brown

What Research Is Needed?

The Journal of American Economic Revitalization

- What economic and workforce development research is needed to help you (and others) make sound policy and strategy decisions?

Questions or Comments?

The Journal of American Economic Revitalization

George Erickcek

Erickcek@Upjohn.org

Claudette Robey

robey@Upjohn.org

edq@Upjohn.org

Contents

Research and Positions

The Implications of Labor Shortages in a Labor Market with Limited Mobility: Evidence and Policy Implications for Improving Output, Productivity, and Growth
David A. Colander, Jr., David Foray, and John Haltiwanger

Entrepreneurial Entry and Evolution: Development and Understanding Differences in Labor Market Mechanisms
John H. Haltiwanger, David Foray, and David A. Colander, Jr.

An Examination of Collaborative Work in Small Business: Perceptions of Nonprofit Economic Development Entities
David A. Colander, Jr., John H. Haltiwanger,
and David Foray

Collaborative Economic Development: The Role of Civil Society
David A. Colander, Jr., John H. Haltiwanger,
and David Foray

Training, Education, and Economic Development:
Evidence from a Small Business Development and Growth in Appalachia and Food Markets
William E. Shafer and David Foray

The Diffusion of Small Firm Technology:
A Meta-Methodology Study
William E. Shafer

Book Reviews

A New Place to Work: Workers and Unions
Revisited in the Postwar Period
William E. Shafer